

BOOK LAUNCH AND PUBLIC DISCUSSION

Global Energy Governance. The new rules of the game (Brookings Press, 2010)

by ANDREAS GOLDTHAU and JAN MARTIN WITTE

Introduction: JOHN SHATTUCK, President and Rector, CEU

Presentation: ANDREAS GOLDTHAU, Associate Professor, DPP, CEU

Discussants: JULIUS HORVATH, Head of Economics Department, CEU

JEFF JORDAN, Economic Officer, American Embassy Budapest (tbc)

Time: Monday, March 29, 2010, 3.30 – 4.45 p.m.

Venue: POPPER ROOM, CEU

Reception to follow

About the book:

The global market for oil and gas resources is rapidly changing. The rise of new consumers, the increasing influence of state players, and concerns about climate change challenge existing regulatory structures, many of which have been in place for a half-century.

Building on a 2-year research project, "Global Energy Governance" investigates how regulatory institutions can ensure reliable sources of energy, evaluate financial risk, and provide emergency response mechanisms to deal with interruptions in supply. In this volume, decision makers from industry, government, and civil society address two central questions: What are the current practices of existing institutions governing global oil and gas? How do these institutions need to adapt in order to meet the challenges of the twenty-first century?