Central European University's
Department of Public Policy (DPP) cordially invites you to attend the

GR:EEN Case Study Integrity Forum on European Public Policy and Governance

Room 001, Nador 13, CEU
10.30 a.m. - 4.30 p.m., October 18

About the project

The GR:EEN project (Global re-ordering: Evolution through European Networks) explores and examines Europe's role in the emerging global order. GR:EEN studies the current and future role of the EU in an emerging multi-polar world through a programme of stock-taking, multi-disciplinary research and complementary activities.

About the event

The CSIF (Case Study Integrity Fora) is major innovative method for interactive dissemination. The CSIFs are designed as a series of interactive events, which aim to involve practitioners in the GR:EEN process right from the very beginning of the project.

The workshop is built around a series of public lectures by GR:EEN researchers and comments by academics and CSIF experts. The three sets of topics addressed are:

- energy, resources and the environment
- human rights and security
- trade and finance

Distinguished speakers:

Yong Wang, Beijing University

Jakub M. Godzimirski, NUPI (Norwegian Institute for International Affairs)

Michael Keating, Richmond University

George Christou, University of Warwick
